Ghazali Education Trust took responsibility for her education and provided full support to her parents. Kanz-ul-Iman started her education from the one class at Ghazali School. Ghazali provided her books, copies, uniforms, stationery, and other supportive items. Days turned into months, and months into years. This determined girl continued her education at Ghazali School and today, in 2023, Kanz-ul-Iman has secured the second position in the matriculation board exams in his area. This proves that institutions like Ghazali Education Trust, if they take care of such children, can become a source of pride for us. Kanz-ul-Iman wants to serve her village by becoming a doctor, and Ghazali Education Trust has commitment to interpret her dream. Countless children in Pakistan's neglected villages, like Kanz-ul-Iman, are eagerly awaiting the support of kind-hearted individuals for their academics and future. Under the Ghazali Education Trust's Orphan & needy Support Program, educational support is being provided for more than 47,000 orphans and destitute children. However, even now, thousands of orphans and deserving children in villages are awaiting the compassion and attention of generous people. Let's join hands to fulfill these children's aspirations.
